CLIENT PROJECT · SHOPIFY

I OVERWROTE IT. TWICE.

THE SETUP

02

TWO PEOPLE, ONE THEME.

I was working on a Shopify theme, and meanwhile the client was editing text and images in the theme editor.

Our own client project, anonymised

1 developer pushing code

1 client in the theme editor

1 shared theme

BOTH AT ONCE!

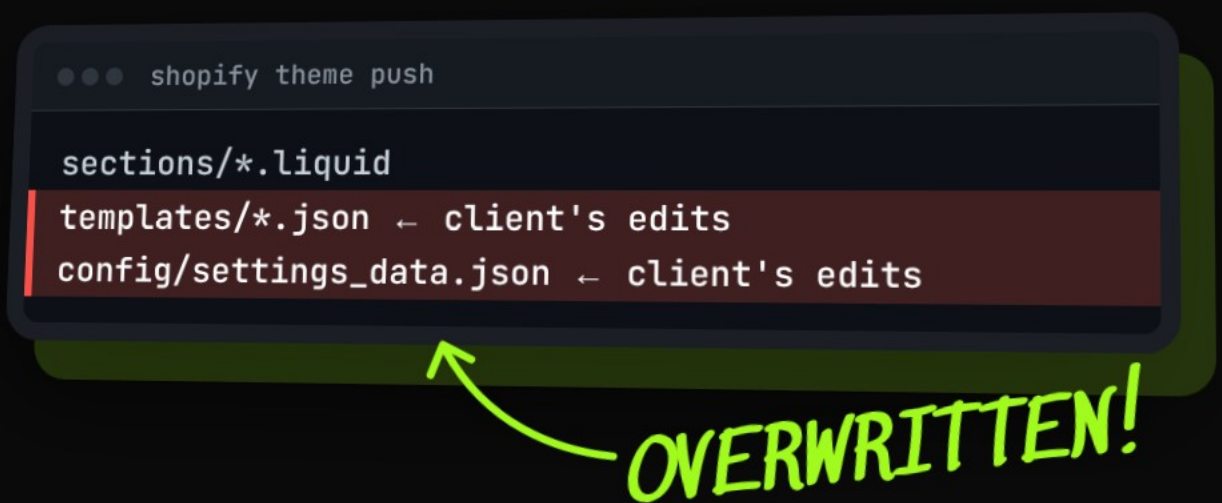

THE MISTAKE

03

A FULL THEME PUSH.

When I pushed the whole theme, my older files overwrote their changes. Twice.

THE RULE

04

PULL FIRST, PUSH ONLY MINE.

Now, before every push, I pull the theme's current state, and I only push the files I actually worked on. I always name the store and the theme, too.

Our own client project, anonymised

1. Pull the current theme
2. Push only my files
3. Name the store and theme

EVERY TIME!

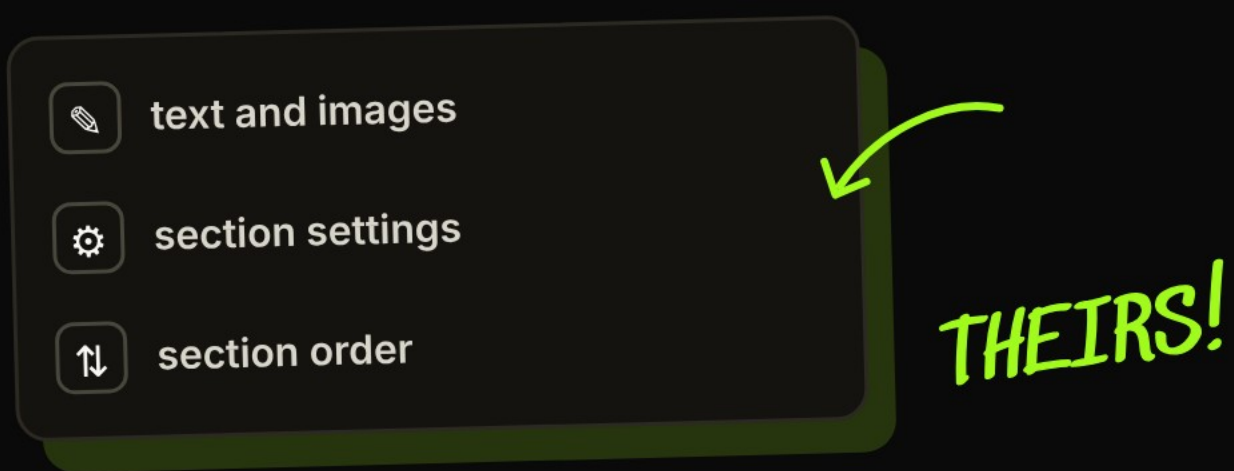

WHY

05

SETTINGS ARE THEIR CONTENT.

Template settings are the client's content, not my code.

THE LESSON

A SHARED STORE?

If more than one person works on your store, ask your developer how they push changes.
